Sinocalycalycanthus raulstonii 'Hartlage Wine'

Named by Roy Lancaster as one of his top plants of Chelsea 2010, Sinocalycalycanthus raulstonii 'Hartlage Wine' is now more widely available. This rare shrub has glossy green foliage and carries delicately scented semi-double flowers up to 7.5cm in diameter from May right through to September.

The flowers are a rich wine colour with a cluster of cream, central petals around a deep burgundy centre. In autumn, the leaves turn butter-yellow before falling.

A cross between Sinocalycanthus chinensis and calycanthus floridus, Sinocalycalycanthus raulstonii 'Hartlage Wine' was developed at JC Raulston Arboretum in North Carolina by Head Gardener, Richard Hartlage.

Size: The plant grows to 3m x 2m and responds well to pruning to maintain the desired size.

Position: The plant will thrive in any good, moist, but well-drained soil in full sun to light, dappled shade. It requires protection in winter from very cold winter winds.
